The About Us page is important.

Customers visit About Us page when they are new to your online shop. They want to establish a level of trust in your business. Since trust is crucial when selling online, it's a good idea to provide a fair amount of information about yourself and your business. Here are a few things you should touch on:

- Who you are
- Why you are selling these items
- Where your business is located
- How long you have been in business
- Who are the people on your team
